CHEERING THE BRITISH ROAST

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY AT DINNER.

ADDRESSES IN PRAISE OF OLD ENGLAND AND HER REBELLIOUS DAUGHTER.

The one-hundred-and-third anniversary of the St. arge's Society of the City of New-York was con-sted last night by a dinner at Delmonico's. The rege hall was profusely decorated with English and perican flags, and the tables were ornamented with tied flowers in full bloom. One hundred and fifty subject of the society and their guests sat down to dinner, many of the dishes being char-istically English, including roast beef, York-pudding and plum pudding. Just before the was served the orchestra struck up a sir, and four fat waiters marched in, bearing ft a tray containing a great piece of beef roasted to that brown. They were followed by four equally corpulent, bearing a similar burden.
W. J. Hurst presided, and among those present
W. L. Booker, the British Vice-Consul, Colonel
Justice, commanding Her Majesiy's forces at

Ex-Judge Noah Davis, who responded to the toast "The Land We Live In," said, as much as he loved the land is lived in, he would despise a man who and not love the land of his ancestors. General Porter responded to "The State of New-York," and as usual he made a witty speech. He referred pointedly to the Centennial orators who were devoting so much time to their speeches, as intending to make them immortal by first making them eternal. New-York, he said, was contral, conservative, commanding, commortalism, metropolitan and condomerate. Other addresses were made by Vice-Consul Booker, Colonel Clive Justice, and the presidents of the sister societies.

THOUSANDS LOPPED OFF.

GENERAL BUTTERFIELD DECIDES SHORTEN HIS PARADE.

THE VARIOUS COMMITTEES PERFECTING YEE DETAILS OF THE BIG CELEBRATION-WHAT THE SCHOOLS WILL DO TO HONOR THE PRESIDENT - INCIDENTS OF

THE JUBILER. In the hope that the prizes which have been offered by the Army Committee to organizations taking part in the industrial parade will have a tendency to make them march well, form quickly and adhere to all the rules which have been laid down for their guidance, General Butterfield has decided to admit into the line an aggregate of 80,000 men, which is a reduction of a little more than 20 per cent on the original number offered. To make the handling of such a fcree practicable it will be necessary to dismiss some of the contingents some time before they reach Canal-st. By this plan the General believes the entire parade will be able to pass in a reasonable time and with-tators. Fire-engines, hose-carts and bands in the firemen's division will move in double column, two engines and two hose-carts abreast and two bands abreast. The floats of the industrial portion will be placed two abreast. This disposal will shorten the column some two to three miles. Where the fine floats, representing historical incidents, and the beautiful metaphorical floats of the German-American division make it desirable that floats should not be placed two abreast, they will be placed under the special escort of some of the military and semi-military organizations marching abreast of them. These positions will be positions of out too great fatigue to the marchers or the spec-special honor to the commands receiving them. TO SAVE ALL POSSIBLE FATIGUE.

The chief marshal announces that he will order divisions which are not to be moved early in the day nor to enter the column until one or two or three hours after the head of the column has been started, to be formed that much later than the leading divisions, so that, for instance, a division that will not start to enter the column until 12 0elock, will not be required to be in position as early as those who start at the head of the column, thus saving all possible fatigue to the men. The interest and patriotism svinced by all the organizations are remarkable, and their desire to have this historical pageant a success gives confidence that the civic and industrial parade will be a marvel. General Butterfield told a reporter yesterday that upward of fifty floats to appear in the procession were worth walking miles to see.

To save space it has been decided to allow only one band or drum corps to each section of from 400 to 500 men. All the accepted organizations were informed of the reduction, and will be expected to use their best efforts to prevent the civic parade from being too slow or too long. It is confidently believed at headquarters that earnest co-operation on the part of the various organizations will secure a satisfactory result in spite of the ast number of people in the line.

Another of General Butterfield's precautions is set forth in a circular which was sent yesterday to each of the organizations, asking them to send efficers or representatives to a practice meeting at the 12th Regiment Armory, at 8 p. m. on Saturday. It is intended to drill at least one for every 100 taking part in the perade, so that narching in column and the various turns may be done with an approach to military precision. Full directions and instructions will be given to these men by General Butterfield and other offleers, so that they may be of real assistance to bodies of men not used to marching.

The following appointments of State aides to Chief Marshal Butterfield were received yesterday : Governor Hovey, of Indiana, sends General John A. Bridgland, and Governor Lee, of Virginia, Major W. Miles Cory. General John Cochrane was made marshal of one of the benevolant divisions, and Colonel Thomas H. Barber and lornelius B. Mitchell marshals of two trade

TO BE GREETED BY PUBLIC SCHOOL GIRLS. The details for the meeting of President Harrison and the New-York school girls at the City Hall on Monday have been settled. There will be 213 girls dressed in white ranged on each side of the entrance when the President arrives. They will strew the ground with flowers as he passes, and at the doorway an address of welcome will be read by Miss Annie Abrahams, a daughter of M. B. Abrahams is a young woman of fine appearance, about eighteen years old, and was elected by her fellow-students at the Normal College, where she is a member of the senior class.

In spite of the well-known courage and energy of the Army Committee, it was obliged to surrender a part of its powers yesterday, The demand for tickets on the new stands at Union Square was so urgent and the swarm of applicants so great that the committee found, with the press of other duties, that it could not manage the ticket-selling as heretofore, and turned that part of the work over to Brentano, with instructions to sell to all comers so long as the tickets last without the formality of an application. The seats are now as easily obtained as those to a baseball match. William G. H. allton, chairman of the Committee on States, ... sent notice to the Governors and Commission ... to report at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Saturday, so that their credentials may be presented and other formalities attended to.

The Naval parade on Monday will be compose of two divisions, which will be divided into ten squadrons, the officers of which will be as follows: .

First Division-F. W. Vosburg, Roar-Admiral; Peter First Division—F. W. Vosburg, Rear-Admiral; Peter Cahill, Fleet Captain; L. L. Denoyelles, Fleet Lieutenant; G. P. Foot, Fleet Secretary. Second Division—J. W. Miller, Rear-Admiral, The only other officer appointed for this division was Richard

There are now 201 vessels enrolled in the parade, and the committee said last night that it oked as if there would be 450 in the parade. All persons wishing to enter vessels for the parade are requested to make their entries at the office of D. M. Munger, No. 81 Newst., before to-

ADMIRAL PORTER ISSUES AN ORDER. An order issued yesterday by Admiral Porter, Grand Marshal of the parade, assigns the revenue cutters and steam yachts to the following positions in the fleet:

Revenue cutters will form in two columns in the rear of the vessels of the Navy. Next will be the steam yachts in two columns, those belonging to the various yacht clubs in the following order and 100 yards apart: Now-York, Atlantic, Corinthian, Seawanhaka, American, Larchmont. tions in the fleet:

anchor in single column from Edits Island to Bedlow's Island, close in shore, out of the way of passing steamers. Each yeath which is able to do so will salute the Prosidest with twenty-one gune as he passez.

All the yacht clubs will be represented on the staff of the Grand Marshal. The yachts are ordered to report to Rear Admiral Jouett, chief of staff, at Twenty-sixth-st., East River, at 7:30 a. m. on Monday.

A telegram was received by the Navy Committee.

of steff, at Twenty-sixth-st., East River, at 7:30 a. m. on Monday.

A tolegram was received by the Navy Committee yesterday from Admiral Porter, saying that he would do everything in his power to make the parade worthy of the day, and promising to send an 'ide here to-day to arrange the final details. Secretary Tracy Informed the Committee on Navy yesterday that the United States steamers Ulysses S. Grant, Samuel Dexter, Albert Gallatin, F. G. Washington, Manhattan and W. E. Chandler would be detailed to take part in the Naval parada. The following have been appointed a committee for the reception to President Harrison on Monday on his arrival here. Each of them is chosen as a representative of some family of Revolutionary times:

Watte De Peyster Teler, Boudinet Ketta, Charles K. Backman, Beekman Kipp Bursowe, Boudinet Atterbury, Sidney D. Ripiey, James W. Husted, iz. Archibald Grazie, Duer Breck, Charles A. Vân Rensselaer, Woodbury Kane, Robert Riockton, Henderson Wells, Prederick Satteries, Waldron Kintzing Post, Lewis Livingsion Delaneld, Samuel Dexter, Boudinet Celt, Stephen Chase, Clement Clarkson, Elisha Dyer, 3d, Ramsay Turnbull, Peter Cooper Hewitt, Grenville Winthrop, George Adams, Lintse Present, Henry A. Alexander, Prederick D. Thompson, George B. Post, ir., John Eliet Bowen, Newbold Morris, Edmund Dwight, ir., Devereux Teler, William Shippin, Meredith Howland, John F. Delano, H. W. Banks, iz., George Howland, John F. Delano, H. W. Banks, Ir., George Haven and Philip Mercer Rhinelander, the last five being descendants of New-York's representative merchants.

PRESENT AT THE SEMI-CENTENNIAL. The Committee on Literary Exercises sent a ticket yesterday for the services at the Sub-Treasury to William H. Armstrong, of Washington, who was present at the semi-centennial cele bration here in 1839, and heard the address delivered by John Quincy Adams. John C. Cal-delivered by John Quincy Adams. John C. Calhoun, of the New-York Southern Society, called on the Committee on Plan and Scope, to invite President Harrison to be the guest of the club on the Thursday evening following the celebration. The committee could only say that the President has already made his arrangements to return to Washington on Wednesday evening. A committee of the German societies which are to assist at the open-sir concert on Tuesday evening called on the Plan and Scope Committee and affered half the receipts if they might be allowed to charge for tickets of admission to the concert. As the centennial managers had already announced that the entertainment was to be free, the application was not considered. With regard to the German committee's fears that the audience would take the form of a mob, if the seats were free, they were reminded that the superintendent of policy would attend to that. The Art Committee of the German division has creeted a large tent on the vacant lots running from Fifty-eighth to Fifty-nint-st, west of Sixth-ave., in which to put together the large floats. As some of them are to be nearly twenty feet high, it was not possible to construct them in an ordinary building.

PUBLIC COMFORT FOR STRANGERS The Bureau of Public Comfort, organized by the hotel men of the city, at No. 30 Union Square, is now fairly under way. A long list of rooms has already been sent in from various parts of the city, and Mr. Wall, the manager, is confident that sufficient accommodations can be provided in this way to meet the wants of all who come. The number of first-class private families who are will-way to meet the wants of all who come. Incomment of first-class private families who are willing to let rooms is remarkable.

During the Centennial week the Metropolitan Museum of Art in Central Park will be reserved exclusively for visitors. Students will be debarred from copying pictures during that period. Admission on Monday can be had on payment of the usual fee of twenty-five cents. On the other days admission will be free.

Although many labor organizations will take part in the Industrial Parade and over 10,000 laboring men will turn out on that occasion, still there is no concerted action on the part of organized labor, some unions going so far as fining any member who parades. Among the organizations who will parade are the Plasterers' Union, Bricklayers' Union, Operative Painters, Granite, Brownstone and Marble Cutters' Unions, International Boatmen's Union No. 1, Theatrical Progressive Union, Brotherhood and United Order of Carpenters and Joiners, Fresco Painters' Union and United German Pavers. Some of the unions with socialistic proclivities refuse to participate in any way.

The Union League Club announced yesterday

socialistic proclivities refuse to participate in any way.

The Union League Club announced yesterday that in consequence of the large attendance auticipated at the club-house on Tuesday next, only members would be admitted on that day.

The Delta Kappa Epsilon Club's stand, in front of No. 435 Fifth-ave., will be for the accommodation of ladies as well as members, and a committee representing each of the thirty chapters of the fraternity has been selected to welsome visitors on the days of the parade. A reception and supper to prominent members of the fraternity then in the city will be given on the evening of May 1.

A flagstaff over seventy feet high was placed on the roof of the Real Estate Exchange yesterday, and the flag will be hoisted on Centennial Day for the first time.

FLAGS AND BUNTING ON TRINITY CHURCH The decoration of Old Trinity was begun on Monday norning and the good example of its guardians was followed by many of the firms down-town, who were walted up by the sight of the bunting which was being festooned about its front. This is said to be the first time in its history that the exterior of the staid old edifice has been so bedecked. On Monday the arched doorway of the central porch was draped and festooned with the American colors and the north and south porches were treated in a similar manner. n was finished yesterday. The display of bunting was most conspicuous about the middle entrance. The pillars on each side of the archway were covered with broad bands of red, white and blue. with which the doorway was also curtained. Above this the bands were rayed out in the form of a sunburst to the top of the archway which was surmounted by four flags. The north and south porches were treated more simply. Bands of red, white and blue were wrapped around their pillars and festooned downward from their cornices. From the battlements of the tower the old thirtysix-foot flag that floated there during the Rebellion was flung to the breeze. The monument to Captain was fung to the breeze. The monument to Captain Lawrence was encircled by bands of red. white and blue so arranged, however, that his famous sentence, "Don't give up the ship," remained in full view. Today the martyrs' monument and that of Alexander Hamilton will also be decorated. Work will also be begun this morning on St. John's in Varick-st., and Trinity Chapel in Twenty-fifth-st. The vestry offices in Church-st., St. Augustine's in Houston-st., and St. Chrysostom's in Thirty-minth-st., will also be suitably embellished with the National colors.

ARRANGING THE PRESIDENTIAL TRIP. Washington, April 23 (Special).-George W. Boyd. the assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, came over from New-York to-day with the authorization of the Centennial Committee to make arrangements for the trip of the President and his party from Washington to Elizabethport next Sunday night. Mr. Boyd had a brief interview with the Private secretary, Mr. Halford, and then went to New-York on the 8 o'clock train. As at present arranged. the Presidential train will consist of a dining-car, a combination car, four Pullman cars and a private car, all vestibuled. It will be made up in the station here at 9 o'clock Sunday night and will leave here at 1 o'clock Monday morning. The President and his family will occupy the private car, and the members of the Cabinet with their families, the Justices of the Supreme Court with their families and other members of the Presidential party will occupy the other cars. The train will arrive at Elizabeth at 8 o'clock Monday The President and his family will be the guests of Governor Green at breakfast. At 9:30 the train will go to Elizabethport, where the party will embark on the Dispatch and the Sirius. At the close of the Centennial Celebration at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the party will start for Washington, arriv-ing here at 9 o'clock.

A PROCLAMATION BY GOVERNOR HILL Albany, N. Y., April 23 .- The following proclama tion was issued to-day :

By the Governor.—A Proclamation.
On April 30, 1789, in the city of New-York, George Washington took the coth of office as first President of the United States. In commemoration of that event, the one hundredth anniversary thereof has been made by statute of the State of New-York a legal holiday, and I there-fore recommend the proper patriotic observance of Tues-day, April 30, inst., throughout our borders. I also urge that in their accustomed places of worship in the various parts of our State the people meet on that day at 9 o'clock in the morning—the hour at which similar services were held at the Inauguration of President Washington—and unite in praise to God for His blessings upon our country in the past, and make prayer to Him for our guidance as ublic in the future.

TO MAKE MAY 1, 1889, A LEGAL HOLIDAY. Albany, April 23 .- In the State Senate to-day, Mr. Pierce introduced a bill, which was passed, making May 1, 1889, a legal holiday in New-York and Brook-lyn.

To the man who has an ungratified wish, the many columns of short advertisements on the fourth and fifth pages of The Tribuno to-day will be found brinful of interest.

OBITUARY.

CIVIL JUSTICE MICHAEL J. NORTON Civil Justice Michael J. Norion died shortly before only one week. He was injured internally by a fall and underwent a surgical operation on Monday. physicians had hopes of his recovery until a short time before his death, as it was expected that his great strength would carry him through. He was well known as a Democratic politician, and was the Tammany leader in the Vth Assembly District. His generous spirit was shown by his kindness to poor people who came under his notice in the First District Civil Court, where he has presided since 1881, having been elected to a second term in 1887. His decisions were in nearly every case sustained by the bigher courts. When he was an infant his parents came to New-York from Ireland, and he has lived here ever since. He was about fifty years old. After a varied experience as a boy he learned the cooper's trade, at which he worked for some time.

1861 Mr. Norton volunteered for the war and became Captain of Company D, 25th Regiment. He resigned his commission and returned to New-York in a short time, (as his services were needed to support his mother, his father having died. In 1864 he was elected Alderman of the Third Ward and two years later was re-elected. In the fol-lowing year, 1867, he became State Senator, receiving a majority of 733 votes over his three op ponents, and was elected for a second time in 1869. Justice Norton was at one time a member of the County Democracy organization, but joined Tammany Hall eight years ago. He was a member of Meade Post, G. A. R., and was president of the Monticello Club of the Eighth Ward. A widow and several children survive him.

PHILETUS F. DORLON.

Philetus F. Dorlon died yesterday at the Dorlon House, Dorion Point, Conn., in his sixty-fourth year. from a complication of liver complaints, after an illness

He was the youngest son of Oliver Dorlon, the founder of the well-known family identified with the oyster business in this city, and was born at Hempstead, Long Island, on October 10, 1825. After the death of his father, nearly forty years ago, he carried on the business in Fulton Market in partner-ship with his brother, Alfred Dorlon, until 1887, when he retired from activo business owing to failing health, and since that time has lived in Connecticut. He married Miss Mary Greenfield, of Brooklyn, who, with one son, survives

In politics he was a Republican, and several times declined nominations for offices which were offered him in Brooklyn. He was well known as a liberal contributor to church and charitable institutions in that city. He was one of the original members of the Blosson Club in this city, but retired from membership many years ago.

His body will be brought to the house of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Sidney Dorion, No. 81 Johnson-st., Brooklyn, where the funeral will be held. The burial will be in Greenwood.

Persons in search of board or rooms should examine the short advertisements on the fourth and fifth pages of The Tribune to-day. SELECTIONS FROM THE MAIL.

FRANCE'S SHARE IN AMERICA'S CELEBRATION

Fo the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: Perhaps I am Quixotic about the matter, but it seems to me to be very remarkable that this great Centennial Celebration is to be allowed to pass by without any recognition, official or otherwise, of the debt which we owe to France. It seems like a deliberate ignoring of history to show not the slightest courtesy to our sister Republic at this time. Surely no other Nation would think the less of us for offering a refutation of the saying that "Republics are ungrateful."

The Statue of Liberty might perhaps be decorated with the French and American colors intermingled, and the vessels in the naval parade might give a passing salute. There is also the statue of Lafayette on the route of the parade, where a courtesy might be paid to France.

New-Yerk, April 23, 1880.

SAFETY OF THE STANDS.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: I hear on all sides apprehension expressed in regard to the safety of the platforms that have been erected for the days of the coming parade. fear is reasonable, and will deter large numbers from seeing this great display. I wish to suggest that the Mayor of the city shall appoint one or more com-potent scientific men to examine and report upon the condition of these structures. I think the community will only be satisfied by an official announcement from the Mayor that they may dismiss all fears as to the insecurity of these platforms. H. KIMBALL. New-York, April 22, 1889.

LET THE STRANGERS HEAR GOOD MUSIC. To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: In view of the many strangers that will be the city on Sunday, April 28, would it not be a good idea for one of the bands to play in Central Park from 3 o'clock until 5 p. m., weather permitting. A DEVOTED ADMIRER OF THE TRIBUNE. New-York, April 22.

RARE BOOKS AT MODERATE PRICES! The sale of the Robert Lenox Kennedy library and prints began yesterday afternoon at the Ortgies art rooms, No. 366 Fifth-ave. Several well-known dealers and agents were present, but the bidding was largely upon orders registered in advance. The first afternoon, including the Aldines and other rare editions of the classics and a part of the handsomely illustrated editions of the French and English works. The fine copy of the original edition of Dore's Bible went for $4. The original edition of " Martin Chuzzlewit," bound by David, went for $8, less than the binding cost.

The first book of note was the rare first Aldine edition of Aristotle, published 1495-'98, which sold The first Aldine edition of Aristophanes-1498-sold for $100, and the first Sophocles 1498—sold for $100, and the first Sophoeles for $65. The first complete edition of Euripides sold for $32 and the first Findar for $24. A French edition of the "Arabian Nights," translation by Galland, in seven volumes, superbly illustrated, printed by Didot and bound by Thouvenin, was bought for $26 25. A few New-York books were sold, among them a copy of the limited edition of "Artistic Houses," issued in 1883-'84, for $35, and a copy of the original edition of Andubon's "Quadrupeds," with three plates, in three volumes, for $90.

Bidding in the evening was brisker and reached its highest point $300 for the black-letter edition of Homer, published at Florence in 1488, the first ever printed. It was bought by Mr. Bouton, the dealer. None of the other black letters sold so the dealer. None of the other black letters sold so well, the second edition of "Hierodes Against Pythagoras," 1475, for $45, being the next highest in price. An edition of Irving's "Life of Washington," in five volumes, brought $77.50; three volumes of Irving's lesser works, $27; a copy of the original edition of Laborde's "Choix de Chansons, Misses en Musique," $250; a copy of La Fontaine's tales, $60; one of his fables, $50, and a beautiful edition of Lavaier's "Physiognomy," $80, while a fine copy of "Gil Blas" went for $26.

THE DAY AT THE CHESS TOURNAMENT.

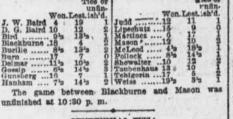

TWEEN BURILLE AND LIPSCHUTZ!

The chief interest in the international chess tourney yesterday was centred in the struggle between the invincible Weiss and D. G. Baird, of the Manhattan Club, who allowed an easy victory to slip from his grasp. Some other interesting games, full of vicissitudes, however, were played. Burn won from J. W. Baird a four knights' game, resolved into a double Ruy Lopes, in which the former had the move. Hanham beat McLood, the latter playing a two knights' determs and some had 'lunders were made on each defence, and some bad Jiunders were made on each side. Pollock beat Bird, who played his favorite Sicilian defence. Burille played a Buy Lopes on Lipschutz and lost.

The unfinished games at the adjournment at 5 p. m. yesterday were those between Mason and Blackburne Weiss and D. G. Baird, Judd and Gunsberg, Martines Weiss and D. G. Baird, Jund and Gunsperg, Mardines and Tchigorin, Taubenhaus and Deimar, and Gossip and Showalter. The game between the last-named pair terminated in a draw. The game between Taubenhaus (white) and Deimar (black) also resulted in a draw. Judd beat Gunsberg. Linschutz was again lucky in beating Burille, who had a winning position on his thirty-second move, and had he played his queen to king's instead of queen's bishop's second square, would have won. D. G. Baird had an easy victory over Weiss, but carolossly threw it away, and allowed the Austrian to escape with a draw. Following is the score of the ga

Hid yourself of the discomfort and danger attending a cold by using Dr. Jayne's Expectorant, an old estab-lished curative for Coughs, Sore Throat and Pulmonar,

A rare and interesting article is a small picture in cil, in miniature fashion, also about the size of a large daguer-rectype, and similarly cased. It was done by John Rectenhame—born in 1964, died in 1906—so it is about three centuries old, and it has been, a hundred years in possession of a single family. The subject is a Holy family; Joseph and Mary are leading the Child between them, and in the background is a visible demonstration from the heavens. The distinguishing rarity is that the material is amethysa, and the purple of the stone gives a singular effect behind the heads of the figures. Nothing could be in stronger contrast with this, in subject and in associations, than several heads of the figures. Nothing could be in stronger con-trast with this, in subject and in associations, than several tortoise-shell combs and small toilet articles, together with a fan, painted on a most extraordinary material, chicken sidn. The special interest of this little assemblage of mementoes is that they were once used by the hapless Marie Antoinette, of the French Revolution. Here is a luxurious cabinet deak of the same time, once used by the Duchess du Berri-a gorgeous piece, inlaid with Sevres plaques, of which the large one in the lid is Paul Potter's "Bull." These articles may be seen at the famous old store of Sypher & Co., Broadway and Seventeenth-st, with a wide variety in ancient and modern art furniture with a wide variety in ancient and modern art furniture and curies of all sorts. Prices are all reasonable and bar-gains frequent. The freest inspection is always welcome.
